In newsagents the fourth issue of Hestetika

Pubblicato: Venerdì 13 Gennaio 2012

It is now available the fourth issue of Hestetika , the magazine that researches and deals with new advances in the world of art, design, architecture and culture. A new concept of a quarterly, published by the Boga brothers of Tradate (Varese), which has a mission to give visibility to new excellence in the various artistic fields. In its 144 pages and over 30 articles, in this issue, Hestetika explores once again, art in all its aspects and forms: from finance to cuisine, from music to design, fashion, luxury, hi-tech , architecture, travel and much more. For the first issue of this year, the cover story is dedicated to the explorer of the future par excellence, that is Lucio Fontana. An anthological service that recounts his thoughts, his ideas and his incredible and ingenious artistic transposition. Inside the magazine an exclusive interview with Terence Conran, English designer and entrepreneur who has been able, with his visions, to renew and modernise the taste of a nation, a special on the genius Josef Albers, innovator and experimenter of Bauhaus and an interesting and visual retrospective of the work of American photographer Francesca Woodman bestowed by the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art . In addition, a face to face with the commissioner for culture of the city of Rome, Dino Gasperini, that explains why Roma must be considered also the capital of culture, a journey through the pages of the books of Cattelan, the story of the artistic work of Sergio Michelini, the artist of both worlds, cutting-edge design with Arcode and the Americans + Pool and to finish Workin with the talent of the photographer Serena Biagini and fashion with Babbu and fashion designer Cristina Onofri.
