Young, good-looking and ... digital! #BlogLab, the competition for young journalists, is back

Pubblicato: Mercoledì 1 Ottobre 2014

In the first year, we were surprised by the commitment and passion of the participants, in the second, by their digital skills. And this year, what can we expect from the students that enrol at BlogLab?

The journalism competition for students in the last three years of high school and at university is returning for its third year, under the banner of GlocalNews, the online journalism festival.

The competition will take place from 13 to 15 November, and have its “base” at the Chamber of Commerce, in Piazza Monte Grappa, Varese. Once training is over, the editorial teams, of four young men and women will go out, armed with telephones, tablets, pens and notebooks, and look for stories to tell, photos to take and people to interview, in relation to five topics that the organisers give them.

So, if you are young, alert and ready to be a journalist for three days, you too can have a place at BlogLab. Click here for more information on the rules, and here to enrol. Participation is free, and there are prizes to be won. On Twitter and Instagram: #bloglab

If you have any questions, write to us, at bloglab.festivalglocal@gmail.com.
